MURPHY

Harve Sparlin has leased part of the Wilcoxon ranch, including the poultry yard.

The Robt. Dahlbergs, of Texas, have another boy.

Will Leith is on the sick list. Elmer Gilmore and wife spent the Fourth at Kerby.

County Agent Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Riley, of Grants Pass, visited Murphy grange Saturday evening. The lecture hour was very instructive, especially the talk given by Dr. Sweeney on farm sanitation.

L. M. Mitchell and wife, Mrs. Mary Leith, Miss Emma Haberman and Dan Leith drove to Ashland in the Mitchell car, leaving Monday afternoon and returning Tuesday night.

Lester Darnelle and party attended the celebration the Fourth at Ashland.

Walter Beagle is very ill with pneumonia. Dr. Sweeney is treating him.

Nearly every one is trying for prizes on the big beet and nearly everything else in the agricultural list. If other communities are making as great preparations for the fair, there will hardly be room at the fair ground for the display.

While a number of people spent the Fourth at Ashland and various other places, there were numerous private picnics, and every one enjoyed the day as best suited themselves.

The Sweeney girls are camping up Murphy creek with friends from Portland, who arrived Sunday morning and will remain for some time.

GRIFFIN FERRY

Mrs. Beattie Tuttle, of California, is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ogden.

Nate Dean has been quite sick and under a physician's care at the home of Will McAllister for several days past.

The fishermen have done much better the last few days than before, we are told.

A number of people of this community and a few from the Dixie neighborhood enjoyed a pleasant gathering on the Fourth in a fine little maple grove on the E. C. Neeley farm, near the school house. National songs were sung by the children and young people. Dinner, ice cream and lemonade, free to all, were served in abundance. This same grove is being prepared for the annual camp meeting which this year will be held from July 27 to August 7.

P. T. Everton and J. L. Green spent Sunday in Grants Pass with the church there, preaching at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m.

KERBY

The quietness of our little town was made even more quiet by the absence of a number of our citizens who journeyed elsewhere to participate in the celebration of the one-hundred-fortieth anniversary of the independence of the United States. Ashland seemed to be the center of attraction of the greater part of those who went away from here. Hervey grove, in the Sucker creek district, drew the greater number from Kerby because it was nearer and more easily accessible. An accurate account of the program as rendered at the grove has not been received, and as your correspondent was not able to attend the celebration but a meager account is at hand. Report says that E. E. Blanchard, of Grants Pass, who delivered the oration of the day, made a zealous and patriotic appeal to the people of this country to stand by and uphold a republican form of government. A number of Kerbyites went to Crescent City to celebrate on the coast and enjoy the refreshing breezes from the sea. Some went to Ashland, attracted by the promised "round-up" exhibition, about which they had heard so much. Some, it is claimed, went so far as Hill and Hornbrook, but why they went there can only be surmised. Perhaps a little more freedom was allowed them there than in Oregon for celebrating the Fourth of July in a style agreeable to their convictions.

An apology is due from your correspondent for some blunders in the communication of last week. Instead of reading "Irvin Smith, who has been for a couple of weeks in Paisley, has returned to Alaska for the summer," it should have read Irvin Lewis, of Grants Pass, who has been visiting in Kerby for a couple of weeks, has returned to Alaska for the summer.

Mrs. Jack Huzleton, who has been visiting in Grants Pass for several weeks, has returned.

The Pepper Vine.

The most common and widely used of all spices is pepper. It is a native of the East Indies, but is now cultivated in various parts of the tropical belt of this hemisphere. The plant is a climber and has a smooth stem sometimes twelve feet long. The fruit is about the size of a pea and when ripe is of a bright red color. In cultivation the plant is supported by poles. In some localities small trees are used instead of poles, for the best pepper is grown in a certain degree of shade.

Force of Habit.

The late H. Gassaway Davis, once a United States senator and candidate for vice president on the Parker ticket, was a brakeman before he became a millionaire and is said on one historic occasion while sleeping soundly in the senate chamber to have dreamed that he was still guiding an unruly freight train through the mountains of West Virginia. The dream was inspired by a nearby colleague, Senator Allen G. Thurman, who blew two mighty blasts on his nose. Davis, thinking he had heard the freight whistle, seized his desk as if it were a brake and nearly twisted the thing from its moorings before he came to.—New York Mail.

PENALTY OF A RIME.

Cautious Collingborne Paid For His Taunt at Richard III.

Did you ever hear of a spring poet who came to his death because of a rime? Doubtless many spring poets have merited the same fate, but in our day justice tarries and the world suffers in silence.

It was not thus when Richard III., last of the Plantagenets, ruled England. In the main the people who did not agree with the Duke of Gloucester were wise enough to keep their opinions to themselves, but William Collingborne thought to stretch poetic license to make it cover an attack on his majesty at a time when the murder of the two princes in the Tower ought to have taught prudence.

The king was under the sway of a beautiful and clever woman, Mrs. Lovell, who was thought to dictate much of his policy, which was hopelessly bad. Now, Collingborne had recourse to the fact that the wolf dog was called a "lovel," and so he penned the famous rime, "The rat, the cat and lovel, our dog, rule all England under the hog." As a result, England was decidedly "on the hog."

Did the rime escape the eagle eye of Gloucester? Well, if it did it was overlooked by the lady. That was a year before the famous battle of Bosworth, when the Earl of Richmond came to the rescue of his suffering people. Richard had put down Buckingham's rebellion, and all the traitors had paid the price with their heads, so another head more or less did not matter. Collingborne was summoned into court, given a perfunctory trial and sent to the block. However, there is no evidence that he was punished for writing atrocious poetry.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

SAVING OLD MANUSCRIPTS.

How Valuable Papers Are Mended and Mounted For Preserving.

There are not fifty persons in the United States who are skilled in the preservation and repairing of old manuscripts. One of them, says the University of Wisconsin Bulletin, may be found working on the third floor of the Wisconsin Historical library building at Madison, one of the six or seven institutions in the country that carry on such work scientifically.

About a generation or two ago a priest in the Vatican library at Rome originated and developed the process now in use in the taking care of old papers.

The first thing done in the process of preserving the letters is to place them between wet newspapers under a weight and leave them for five or six hours. This removes the creases and the dirt. Then they are put between wood pulp boards and left twenty-four hours and then between blotters to complete the drying process. The next step is to repair the paper.

The paper of some of these letters is so old when received that it falls to pieces if struck. This is strengthened by a layer of a sort of transparent cloth, on both sides of the piece of paper. Other letters need mending along the edges with parchment paper. To cover holes a piece of paper is glued over the edges and is left larger than the hole until dry. It is then cut down to the proper size, and the edges are sandpapered until smooth. After all such repairs are made the letters are mounted on large white sheets and prepared for binding.

One virtue will efface many vices one vice will efface many virtues. Palace

HUGO

Most of the Hugo people spent the Fourth at Winona. After a big picnic dinner there were races of various kinds. These were followed by an exciting ball game between Hugo and Winona, which resulted in a score of seven to two in favor of Winona. Ice cream and cake were served to the crowd. The girls and boys of Hugo and Winona entered into a game of hockey, in which great enthusiasm was shown. Winona won the game. All in attendance were glad to spend the day with the Winona people, who certainly know how to entertain.

Mrs. Mae Henry spent the Fourth at Ashland.

Leonard Martin, who is mining at Taklima, is spending a few days with his folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Crockett and family spent the Fourth at Ashland and report a fine time.

Ernest Henry, of Los Angeles, is in Hugo on business.

Nelson Ward returned to Selma, where he is working in a sawmill.

A dance was given at the hall the evening of the Fourth and was largely attended and much enjoyed by the young people.

The Crothers family, of Grants Pass, is spending a few days with Mrs. Dillen.

Hay and cherry harvest is in full blast now.

WATER RIGHTS GRANTED IN JOSEPHINE COUNTY

During the quarter ending June 30, 1916, State Engineer John H. Lewis issued 137 permits for the appropriation of water, including six for the construction of reservoirs. According to these permits, it is proposed to irrigate 7,516 acres of land, store 1,440 acre feet of water and develop power at a number of small individual power plants for private use.

The following permits were issued in Josephine county:

A. H. Gunnell, of Grants Pass, for mining purposes, diverting water from Woods creek, in section 32, township 40 south, range 8 west.

H. H. Davis, of Williams, for the irrigation of 20 acres, diverting water from Coal Pit gulch, in section 36, township 38 south, range 5 west.

G. W. Britton, of Grants Pass, for the irrigation of eight acres, diverting water from Rogue river, in section 18, township 36 south, range 6 west.

The Sixth Sense.

Naturalists have long held that there is no magic about it if we postulate the existence of a sixth sense—a relational sense, a topographical sense, a sense of distance and direction, such as resides on a very small scale in a snake's tongue and the antennae of ants. Such a sense must reside, too, in migrating birds, in hunting pigeons.—London Standard.
